HIUM BATTERIES -

TOPIC

Lithium batteries are used in cellphones, power tools and many household devices. They can also be very hazardous if mistakenly put in recycling containers.

THESE BATTERIES ARE THE MAIN CAUSE OF FIRES AT RECYCLING CENTERS.

Designed to be lightweight, they have a thin outer covering that is easily punctured when compacted in a recycling truck. If the battery is damaged, a short occurs, igniting the highly reactive lithium. Damaged batteries delivered in a load of recyclables, may smolder undetected until the pile bursts into flames.

GLASS RECYCLING on the Menu

Families in Burlington County, dining at home due to COVID-19, have been busy cooking meals and baking tasty treats. They recycled lots of glass bottles and jars in the process!

From March thru August, we recycled 1.4 million more pounds of glass than compared to 2019.

Thank you, County residents, for keeping recycling on the menu!
